

Dear Exhibitors,

We are pleased to announce the return of the Fall Philly Great American Guitar Show this November 6 & 7, 2021 at the Greater Philadelphia Expo Center in Oaks, PA. We can hardly believe it's been two years since we've seen everyone and are so excited to invite you back to this iconic show! As one of the nation's oldest, biggest, and best loved public musical instrument trade shows, the Fall Philly Great American Guitar Show will open its doors once again to thousands of guitar and music-loving enthusiasts to spend an exciting weekend buying, selling, trading, and swapping all things musical.

This year marks the 30th year since the very first show had its humble beginnings in a Ramada Inn in Essington, PA just a short distance from the Philadelphia International Airport. Over the years it has grown and become an event which offers an incredible array of vendors offering a variety of new, vintage, and used electric and acoustic guitars, basses and other stringed instruments as well as additional popular items including amps, effects pedals, cases, parts, display stands, furniture, strings, straps, books, vinyl records, music memorabilia, and more.

The Greater Philadelphia Expo Center has been our home base and we are looking forward to coming back to this state-of-the-art facility. It remains a 1st choice destination for the region's most sought after shows and reopened its doors to a full schedule of events this past July. With its 22-44ft high ceilings, and open floor plans it can accommodate appropriate spacing for any health guidelines due to Covid that might be advised to maximize public safety. All government mandates which may be in effect during the show will be followed for your safety and that of guests and our staff. The Expo Center is currently following CDC guidelines which recommend a mask indoors whether vaccinated or not.

We have booked blocks of rooms for your convenience at the Hampton Inn and the Hilton Garden Inn located close to the GPEC as well as the Homewood Suites a short drive away in Audubon. Please book your rooms quickly in order to take advantage of the reduced guitar show rates.

As always, your participation and great music gear make this show the unparalleled event it is. We appreciate your enthusiastic support and look forward to seeing you again after the long guitar show drought.

Sincerely,
